About

Currently working as a Front-end Developer at Weekend Inc. My day job involves developing the website dashboard for HM Sampoerna using React and Angular.

I'm a team player and enjoy collaborating with other developers and designers to create engaging and user-friendly applications.

I chose to be a programmer because I love challenges and problem solving. When I get into a new problem, it makes me even more excited and curious. If I get over it, it becomes my own satisfaction.
